

CEO Tang, Behave Yourself Novel Chapter 13 To 14

C13

“Aiya, you don’t have to be ‘but’. I know that you will definitely not come here for no reason. Speak. What is it that you want to talk to me about?”

“Sigh ~ ~ Whatever, since you’re not willing to say it, then I won’t force you. I’m looking for you today because I have good news to tell you!”

“Good news?” “What good news?” While holding the phone, he walked to the computer table and sat down. He then pressed the power button on the computer.

“That science fiction novel of yours that you wrote has been chosen by a film and television company. They want to buy the copyright. They are currently discussing it with the website!”

“Are you for real?!” Nikki was shocked. How did the film and television companies set their eyes on such an unpopular topic?

“Ah Hua, are you joking with me? Back then when my novel was being published in a row, it did not have a lot of hits. Other than preserving my foundation, I did not even get a single cent! “

“I’ve told you before, that novel of yours is a novel based on IP. It might not be popular in the female channel, but if it was adapted into a movie or television show, it might become popular!”

She couldn’t help but believe what A-Hua was saying, but she controlled her emotions and kept telling herself that this was only the stage of the negotiation. She still didn’t know if it would work!

“If that’s the case, then let’s just let the website talk to you. I’ve worked with the website for so many years, and I still have a lot of trust in all of you. And as the author, I’m only responsible for writing essays and developing channels.

“Do you really trust us that much? You don’t even ask how much of the copyright fee you can get? “

Nikki smiled. “The copyright fee is fifty-fifty for me and the website. Naturally, if you want to make money on the website, you have to ask for more. I’m in a hurry too!”

“You sure are ambitious!” On the other end of the phone, Ah Hua scolded jokingly, “I called you to inform you about this matter. Although the details are still being discussed on the website, it should be close to 90%. Also, you should be preparing yourself, the film and television company might come looking for you to discuss this with you in person. I heard from my colleagues at the operations department that they seem to be very curious about the purpose of your novel.”

Nikki slightly frowned, “It’s not a problem to increase the plot. In any case, many of the content that I originally planned didn’t add because the subscription was not good. Now, if I add it, it’s ready-made, but does it need to be discussed with me personally as to the purpose of the creation?”

“I just said it’s possible. I’m not sure yet. It’s always better for you to prepare first!”

“Alright!” “No,” he answered reluctantly.

Alright, let’s do it this way then. I still have a few manuscripts that haven’t been examined yet, so I’ll go back to work first. I’ll inform you when the results come out.

He hurriedly agreed, saying that he would definitely submit the script on time this month and that he would submit more of it.

Of course, as a veteran editor, Ah Hua would never believe it. All the authors would be in this state of confidence during the first few days after they submitted their drafts, but no matter how ambitious they were, it would be nonsense not to take action.

She felt the sunlight shining in through the window was a bit blurry, so she got up to pull the curtain. When she pulled the curtain, she felt the room was a bit dark, so she turned on the light again, and when she went to turn on the light, she saw from the corner of her eye that the cloth she threw in the sink had not been washed yet, so she washed the cloth again, and when she finished, she remembered that the seaweed soup she was going to drink that night hadn't even soaked in the seaweed, she turned around and went to the kitchen to grab the seaweed from the refrigerator.

However, the moment the refrigerator door opened, it was like Pandora's magic box was opened. Nikki suddenly realized that her fridge was so empty that it didn't matter what she wanted. Thus, she completely forgot about the word code, took her wallet, changed into a new set of clothes, and headed out, ready to go shopping at the supermarket.

On the way to the supermarket, Nikki had also done some soul-searching. How could she forget to buy ingredients and only remember to buy daily necessities these two days? After all, she was a writer who spent most of her time at home writing codes. Three meals had to be taken care of at home. If she ate take-out food every day, not only would it cost money, it would also be bad for her body.

When Nikki returned after buying enough ingredients, she looked at the refrigerator that was filled to the brim with food and felt extremely satisfied. When her gaze fell on the computer screen that automatically went black due to the lack of operation for a long time, she finally felt a little remorseful.

While blaming herself, she looked at the clock on the wall. When she saw the time, the blaming feeling immediately disappeared without a trace.

It was time for dinner. It was time for her to make dinner!

By the time he had finished cooking, enjoyed a delicious meal, and sat down in front of his computer contentedly, Hour Hour Seven had already mercilessly walked to the seventh position.

This meant that for Nikki, who was determined to adjust her sleep, she would have to sleep before 10 o'clock every night. After an hour of washing up, she only had two hours of time.

Two hours. If it wasn't for Karwenz, with Su Wen's hand speed, he would only be able to write around four thousand words. Four thousand words, and that was only a little more than a chapter ...

Su Wen slapped his head hard. "It's over, I've been crippled for another day!" One month and thirty days. Adding the time it took to clean the house, there are only twenty-seven days left! "

After counting the number of scripts she handed in this month evenly, Nikki discovered that in the following days, as long as she could write slightly over 10,000 scripts per day, she wouldn't have to worry about this month's scripts. And over 10,000 scripts, it would only take a little more than 5 hours.

As he calculated, he felt a sense of relief in his heart. The little pressure he'd felt just now vanished in an instant.

Thus, the editor called Su Wangliang, who had a big heart, took out his cell phone to check his Weibo.

Fortunately, Su Wanxue's self-control was not hopeless. She browsed Weibo for a bit more than 9, then chatted with the other authors in the group for a bit before she went to wash up. Even though she was still completely awake, she forced herself to lie on the bed, turn off the lights, and count the sheep in twos and threes.

It was unknown how many sheep he had counted when he finally fell asleep.

The next day, when Su Wen was awakened by the sunlight shining through the window, she stretched lazily on the bed. She believed that since she had gone to bed so early last night, she must have woken up very early today.

C14

But when she saw the 10: 30 display on her phone, she rubbed her eyes in disbelief. Seeing that the number didn't change, and wondering if there was something wrong with her phone, she sat up abruptly and ran to the living room to check the clock hanging on the wall. With that look, she finally accepted the frightening fact that she had slept for twelve hours straight.

Nikki scratched her hair and stomped on the ground a few times in frustration, "Nikki, are you a pig? You can actually sleep for so long! "

Thinking of her mission today, she looked at the time on the wall again. She pursed her lips and quickly went into the bathroom. While she was busy brushing her teeth, she ran to the kitchen to warm the milk and roast the toast.

After she went back to the bathroom to brush her teeth, she remembered that the eggs hadn't even been fried yet, so she took a towel and rushed to the kitchen, took out an egg from the refrigerator, heated up the pan, poured oil on it, and beat the egg down. During the time it took for the egg to fry, she quickly washed her face, and when the egg came out of the pot, she used the excess oil in the pan to fry the pieces of bacon that she had just taken out.

He put the toast, fried eggs, and white porcelain plate of bacon on the tray, then took the milk out of the microwave. Within a few minutes, a nutritious breakfast was served.

To him, anything was possible. It was just that he had to treat the matter of eating properly. It was best if he could have a bit of a ceremonial feeling.

Previously, when she was at home, if she had done so, she would have definitely been told by her sister-in-law Zhou Jing to put on an act. This time was fine, it was said more often.

Thinking back to those two years at home, he suddenly realized that she actually lived so roughly.

Meanwhile, Nikki, who was focused on eating breakfast, didn't notice that there was a pair of eyes in the office building opposite her that was watching her every move.

"Boss Tang, the meeting is about to begin!" The secretary walked into the CEO's office and respectfully reported to Tang Banyeng, who was standing in front of the French window.

"Alright, I understand!" Tang Bainfeng turned around and casually pointed to a building across the street. "When did that building become a single apartment building?"

The secretary looked out of the window and answered immediately, "The renovations just finished two months ago. The clients of this single apartment are mainly those who work here, and it's said that they are very popular. Usually, the tenant in front goes back on the rent, but there will be an appointment later.

“Is that so?” “En!” Tang Bainfeng replied. He tidied up his sleeves and turned around to leave, giving the order as he walked out of the office, “Prepare a sandwich for me at noon. As long as it’s eggs and bacon, there’s no need to add anything else!”

“Yes, Boss Tang!” The secretary behind him did not understand, but he still gave a respectful reply.

After filling her stomach, Nikki finally sat down in front of the computer. She clenched her fists and told herself that she had to finish more than 10,000 yuan today. Otherwise, if she couldn’t hand in the script by the end of the month, A-Hua would definitely kill her.

Warmth took a deep breath and slowly placed his slender fingers on the keyboard. He stared at the computer screen, letting his mind wander as he worked.

Until a sudden ringing sound interrupted her train of thought, Nikki took a look at the number of words above the code word software.

5,000 words. And it was only 1 p.m., so it seemed like her speed had increased.

With such a good mood, he reached out to pick up the phone that was still ringing. He didn’t even pay attention to who the electrician was when he picked it up.

“Hey!”

“Warm, it’s me!”

A familiar voice rang, but it caused Su Wangyou to look at the caller ID in disbelief. It turned out to be her sister-in-law, Zhou Jing.

“Sister-in-law, why did you call me? Did something happen at home?”

“No, no, no. From what you’re saying, can’t I just call you and chat?”

She didn’t call him when she had nothing to do, so she called him. Since she was so polite with him, she must have some sort of plan.

Nikki glanced at the time in the lower right corner of the computer screen. She didn't want to waste her time on meaningless pleasantries.

"Sister-in-law, it's my working hours now. If there's nothing else, I'll hang up first. If the Leader sees that I'm on the phone during work time, then my salary will be deducted!"

Sure enough, upon hearing this, Zhou An immediately got down to business.

If that's the case, then I'll make it a long story. You should still remember that this weekend is LuLu's birthday, right? Your big brother and I discussed and prepared to give LuLu a gold pendant as a birthday present, but our little place doesn't have any beautiful styles. I heard Dad say that you're working in a big city, so can you help me and your big brother pick one from the shopping mall?

Nikki's heart sank. This was to remind herself to buy LuLu a birthday present. Furthermore, she had already decided on what to give.

As an aunt, it was only right for her to give her niece a happy birthday present, but she really didn't like the feeling of being forced into a corner. Furthermore, there was no need for such a precious gift for a child's birthday.

"Sister-in-law, I'll help you pick them, but I'm so far from home. If we send them back by express, aren't you afraid that something might go wrong?"

"You don't have to worry about that at all. I've already asked around and now even the courier companies have a premium service. If there's a problem, the courier companies will compensate!"

He had already set up a trap and was waiting for her to come steal it!

However, the more Zhou Jing was like this, the more she didn't want to follow her wishes. She would prepare LuLu's birthday present, but whatever it was, she would decide.

"Alright, I'll go to the mall to take a look tonight, but sister-in-law, I just rented a house and paid the deposit, and my salary was not even paid. This rent was only paid after borrowing money from friends, I'm afraid I don't have the money to pay it first. So, when I see your style and send you a picture or quote, if you think it's good, you can send the money to my account first, and then I'll pay on my side!"

The other end of the phone quieted down as soon as he heard Su Qingrou's words.

After a few seconds, he finally heard Zhou Jing's strange voice, "Warm, it can't be. Buying a little child's pendant is only worth a few thousand yuan, you can't even bring out that much money?" Both your brother and I don't have a high education, and we don't know how to transfer money online. If you really don't have any money, then you can just borrow some from your friends, don't worry, when you go home for the new year, I will definitely pay you back the money. You don't need to be on guard against me like a thief! "

